HARVEST

“An active and dynamic harvest”

The 2023 campaign was marked by a dry winter and unusually high temperatures, leading to a 15-day early budding compared to the previous season.

These high temperatures eased during the spring, slowing the vine’s cycle and creating optimal growth conditions. Typical summer climatic conditions accelerated grape ripening without compromising quality.

As a result, the harvest proceeded relatively quickly, testing the efficiency and dedication of our team.

After fermenting our white varieties, we moved on to the reds, completing the process on September 15.

WINEMAKING

Each year, the production of “Finca Constancia Parcela 52” follows a unique blend of three fermentation methods: barrel fermentation, fermentation in wooden vats, and fermentation in stainless steel tanks.

- Barrel Fermentation: The wine remains on fine lees for six months, undergoing the traditional batonnage technique.

- Wooden Vat Fermentation: Imparts a unique sweet wood character.

- Stainless Steel Tank Fermentation: Maintains freshness and vibrancy.

This innovative triple fermentation technique results in a truly special wine, perfect for memorable occasions.

TASTING NOTES

Color: Brilliant golden hue with green reflections.

Aromas: A wide range of scents, from fine herbs and fennel to tropical fruits, ripe pears, and peach.

Palate: Elegant, creamy, and intense, dominated by fruit flavors with light toasted notes, making for a persistent, flavorful, and unforgettable wine.
