

Black Tears is distilled from exceptional molasses, sourced from four mills in the province of Ciego de Avila.

Black Tears is then spiced with coffee and cacao, which have flavored the history of Cuba itself, and infused with ají dulce, one of the most distinctive tastes in Cuban cuisine.

The irresistible, bittersweet taste of Black Tears—and its low sugar content—sets it apart from other rum crafted products.

VIGIA rum was developed exclusively to be the best example of Cuban rum as a gift for heads of state visiting the island. The VIGIA master blenders have been renowned for producing spectacular blends of aged Cuban rum.

Black Tears is produced under the seal and quality guarantee of VIGIA. Black Tears is anchored in the historic Vigia's experience of rum production with its traditional low-sugar crafting, blending and bottling by hand.

The seal was developed by ICIDCA for Vigia.
