

A Modern Botanical Legend Unveiled

200 years after its creation, the House of Angostura® is celebrating with the release of a limited-edition and ultra-premium rum named Cusparia.

Back in 1824, Dr. Johann Siegert perfected his formula for 'Amargo Aromatico' - a medical elixir to cure digestive troubles among soldiers during the wars. Named after the town of Angostura, now called Ciudad Bolivar, in Venezuela, we know this formula today as ANGOSTURA® aromatic bitters, recognised as one of the industry's best-kept secrets and often used in cocktails and culinary dishes around the world to enhance flavours.

Angostura® soon became one of the largest buyers of rum in Trinidad and Tobago. This in turn led to the blending and bottling of their first Angostura rum in their very own distillery in 1949, considered the most modern in the Caribbean at the time. This early experimentation laid down the roots for the vast portfolio of rums they have today, culminating in this special release in 2024.

Cusparia is not just a spirit, it's a testament to the dedication and craftsmanship that have defined the House of Angostura® for generations and so, with every bottle comes a piece of our history, a sip of our passion and a taste of Trinidad and Tobago's unparalleled beauty.

Tasting Notes

A unique blend of 21-year-old to 24-year-old rums finished for three months in Madeira, Cognac and Bourbon casks, Cusparia boasts a golden bronze colour with excellent clarity. On first taste, a vibrant citrus burst instantly awakens the senses with its zesty freshness.

The medium-full mouthfeel pairs rich earthiness with sweet stone fruits for a memorable start, with a distinctive floral middle leading on to rich treacle notes and hints of bittersweet citrus.

A rum that sparks celebration, the taste of Cusparia is made to last. The finish is long and unforgettable, leaving a lasting impression of rustic character with a hint of cocoa. This touch of natural warmth beautifully rounds off the complex and well-crafted experience.
